

I have been advertising in frontdoors since its inception in 2003. It has been a rewarding relationship. Judy Fox Interiors, Inc. is able to appear in a prestigious publication, and we are consistently able to connect new client projects we receive with dollars spent. As frontdoors grows in circulation, their customer service increases also. I am a very satisfied client. It is just good business.

frontdoors is a valuable partner in providing reach and exposure for our First Press Weekend of wine activities to benefit our communities' two public radio stations, KJZZ 91.5FM and KBAQ 89.5FM. As a considerate media partner with excellent community focus, frontdoors' staff is adept at listening to our specific needs and helping us craft ads that reach our target market for First Press, KJZZ and KBAQ.

It is with great enthusiasm that I recommend frontdoors to advertisers and subscribers alike. The newspaper has an amazing one-two punch combination of high-quality production and targeted distribution. I have been working with frontdoors for years now and I will continue to do so because of their competency and sensitivity to our company's particular needs. We pride ourselves on working with innovative, client-centered, satisfaction-driven affiliates. frontdoors, which assisted us in gaining consistent brand exposure in our targeted demographic, has definitely proven to be the perfect venue in which to advertise. We continue to thrive by working with publications such as frontdoors that share our business's commitment to quality, excellence and customer service.
